

HIS TEMPLE

Have you ever heard the Maltese proverb which advises us to hold dear to the old people's spoken wise words? This proverb tells us that it is from listening to the elderly that we can learn wisdom. These wise old people can be our neighbours or our grandparents who love us and want us to recognise God's constant presence and love within us. They remind us that we are all temples where God lives.

- Take an envelope and stick its front side to one of the A4 papers provided. Open the envelope, stick the triangular opened flap too.
- On top of the envelope draw the sign of the cross and while you stick your photo or draw your self in the middle look at the picture and remind yourself that we are all like temples where God lives.
- Now, take some time to think of old people who with their words of wisdom help you to get to know more God and his presence in everyone.
- Write the names of these wise old people on the envelope and thank God for them. Ask him to bless them and provide them with all their needs.
